Transnational Africa and Globalization Mojúbàolú Olúfúnké Okome, Olufemi Vaughan
The dawn of neoliberal rationality in Africa in the 1980s coincided with a massive exodus of skilled Africans to the global North. Moving beyond the 'push and pull' framework that has dominated studies of this phenomenon, this collection instead looks at African transnational migrations against the backdrop of rapid and intensifying globalization. In doing so, it explores a dimension usually neglected in most accounts—the ways in which transnationalism as a whole is largely a function of the remarkable adaptability and innovation of actual migrants.
